INVADERS EXECUTIVES

TAD TAUBE
President

Tad Taube was ecstatic, even though he just lost a coin flip.

Two businessmen who also were friends, Tad Taube and Jim Joseph, were invited to become co-owners of the Bay Area franchise of the newly formed United States Football League.

Shortly thereafter, the Los Angeles franchise became available. The two men each wanted to be a controlling owner of a franchise, but not at the expense of their friendship. On May 7, 1982, Tad Taube and Jim Joseph met at Vince's restaurant in San Mateo to "flip for a franchise." Joseph won the flip but Taube won his home.

"I was hoping to stay in the Bay Area since I've spent most of my life here," Taube said. "I grew up here, was educated here and have my businesses here. This community is very much a part of my life and I don't want to leave it."

Outside of football, Taube's business interest mainly lies with his being chairman of Taube Associates, Inc., a diversified real estate investment, development and management company formed in 1964.

From 1973 to 1979, he served as chairman and chief executive officer of Koracorp Industries, an apparel manufacturing company operating in the U.S., Canada, Europe and the Orient. In 1979, Koracorp merged with Levi Strauss & Co.

From 1959 to 1964, prior to forming Taube Associates, Taube was vice president and director of E-H International, an Oakland-based electronics equipment manufacturer.

Once Taube Associates was on its way, the entrepreneurial Taube ventured elsewhere. In 1969, he co-founded Siltec Corporation, the second-largest domestic silicon wafer manufacturer, then founded United-Pacific Development Corporation.

His business dealings have led him to the classroom, lecturing at the University of California and College of San Mateo, plus he serves on the boards of many professional organizations.

Taube has been director of the California Housing Council since 1979, was elected president in 1981 and chairman in 1982. He's a former member of the National Council of Better Business Bureaus and the American Association of Apparel Manufacturers.

Born April 1, 1931, in Krakow, Poland, Taube grew up in the Bay Area and attended Stanford University. After receiving his bachelor's degree in industrial engineering in 1954, he earned his master's degree in industrial management in 1957.

He served in the U.S. Air Force and worked in engineering capacities with Ampex Corporation and Wesix Electric Co.

A philanthropist active in civic and community affairs, Taube recently became a founder of the Stanford University Center for Economic Policy Research. He is director of the National Conference of Christians and Jews, the Koret Foundation and San Franciscans for Good Government.

He has contributed his efforts to the San Francisco Art Institute, Skylark Homes, Bay Area Council and Commonwealth Club.

He is married to the former Michele Gadd. Children: Mark, Paula, Sean and Juddson.

JOHN RALSTON
Head Coach and General Manager

John Ralston has given credibility to the United States Football League since 1981 when he became the league's first full-time employee under Dave Dixon, founder of the USFL.

In addition to being head coach and general manager of the Invaders, Ralston holds a position on the USFL Competition Committee. He brings 31 years of experience as a football coach and administrator to his present post.

His attitude and desire to win are reflected in his positive approach to life and football. Ralston has a career record of 120-80-7 in 18 seasons as a head coach in college and pro football.

He believes in self-improvement and positive reinforcement. If a person works hard, maintains a positive attitude and doesn't give up, success will be achieved.

"That's why the Invaders and the USFL offer such a challenge," Ralston says. "This team and this league are in the genesis stage and everyone must work very hard and be very strong-willed to make it a success. It's a new challenge and a very exciting one."

Born April 26, 1927, in Oakland, Ca., Ralston graduated from Norway (Mich.) High and returned to the West Coast to attend the University of California. At Berkeley, Ralston played linebacker on two Rose Bowl teams before graduating with a physical education degree in 1951.

Ralston coached at the high school level in the Bay Area for the next eight years before being named head coach at Utah State in 1959. In four years at Utah State he compiled a 31-11-1 record, two Skyline Conference championships and coached future NFL stars Merlin Olsen, Lionel Aldridge and Bill Munson.

He moved to Stanford in 1963, compiling a 55-36-3 record in nine seasons. In his last two seasons at Stanford, 1970 and 1971, Ralston led his team to Pac 8 titles and Rose Bowl wins over Ohio State (27-17) and Michigan (13-12). Stanford quarterback Jim Plunkett won the Heisman Trophy in 1970 under Ralston.

Ralston moved to the professional ranks in 1972 with the Denver Broncos. In 1973, he was named AFC Coach of the Year by UPI and Kansas City's Committee of 101 after Denver had its first-ever winning season (7-5-2). In five seasons with the Broncos, Ralston guided the team to three winning seasons — the franchise's only winning seasons to that time.

After being out of football in 1977, Ralston returned in 1978 to assist Dick Vermeil with the Philadelphia Eagles. He became an administrator with San Francisco in 1979, spending two seasons with the 49ers.

A professional speaker for 11 years, Ralston often addresses motivational management seminars and recognition banquets.

He and his wife Patty have three children: twin daughters Terry and Sherry and son Larry.

HOWARD FRIEDMAN
Vice President-Administration

When Tad Taube began building the Invaders' organization, he was looking for an energetic, enthusiastic person to run the day-to-day business operation; someone who would get things done. After all, the USFL had just been formed and everything that needed to be done on a club level, in essence, had to be created.

Howard Friedman, a long-time business associate of Taube, was persuaded to end his three-year retirement and handle the job of vice president-administration. Along with being a partner in the Invaders, Friedman oversees the ticket operation, public relations department and marketing department.

Born July 8, 1934, in Newark, N.J., Friedman graduated from Weequahic High in Newark. After attending Cornell University, he earned a marketing degree from New York University in 1956, followed by two years in the U.S. Coast Guard.

He spend eight years with Fairchild Publications in marketing and advertising before joining Koracorp Industries, an apparel firm of which Taube was chairman of the board.

In 15 years with Koracorp, Friedman served as president of Koratron, a subsidiary of Koracorp, and was president of the men's apparel group of Koracorp. Also, he was a director of Koracorp.

In 1979, he retired from the business world until joining the Invaders.

He and his wife Rita live in San Francisco. They have two children: Mitch and Deborah.

INVADERS ASST. COACHES

INVADERS RADIO NETWORK

Joe Starkey

Lee Grosscup

Bob Murphy

Three veteran sportscasters make up the KGO Radio broadcast team for the Oakland Invaders.

Heading the list and calling the play-by-play is KGO Radio Sports Director Joe Starkey who, following an early business career, dove headlong into the world of sports.

His list of credits includes coverage of baseball, basketball, football, hockey and soccer for such teams as the Oakland Seals, Pittsburgh Penguins, Colorado Rockies, Minnesota Vikings, Denver Broncos and the University of California Golden Bears.

It was Starkey's call of the final five-lateral play of the 1982 Cal-Stanford Big Game that captured him nationwide attention and a first place sports award for outstanding sportscasting from the Peninsula Press Club.

Lee Grosscup will provide color commentary for the broadcasts. Grosscup parlayed All-America quarterback honors at the University of Utah into a seven-season professional career with the New York Giants and the Oakland Raiders.

He then broke into broadcasting in 1966 with the American Football League, various television stations and, for the last eight years, as an expert commentator for NCAA football on ABC-TV. In between Grosscup has developed as an actor and as a commercial advertising performer.

The third man on the team, Bob Murphy, will take the broadcasts out of the announcers' booth into the stands and onto the field. This extension of the traditional two-person radio report is expected to add greater depth and understanding to the listener's enjoyment of the game.

Murphy began his broadcasting career as a color commentator for Stanford University football and basketball, later moving on to San Francisco 49ers football and San Jose State football.

He has been host and producer of weekly highlight programs for the 49ers, Stanford and Cal.

An avid sports enthusiast, Murphy has covered major golfing events with live description and interviews for Mutual Radio and other Bay Area radio stations. Additionally he has functioned as host, play-by-play and color commentator on over 400 events in 34 different sports for Gill Cable Television.

Invaders broadcasts are also heard on a network of West Coast stations including KFBK in Sacramento and KJOY in Stockton.

COMMISSIONER SIMMONS

The career experience and qualifications that Chet Simmons brings to his new position as Commissioner of the United States Football League could be referred to as "the state of the art."

Whereas other leaders of leagues in the various professional sports come from backgrounds in public relations, the law, or actual participation in the sport they administer, Simmons, in an era dominated by television, brings to the USFL a career in sports television that spans four decades.

His background also includes several ventures constructed from the ground up, experience that is immediately applicable to the task of launching the USFL's inaugural campaign.

Prior to accepting the challenge of guiding the USFL, Simmons was president and chief executive officer of the Entertainment and Sports Programming Network, Inc. (ESPN), where his ability to build, organize and manage an all-new entity was a prime factor in ESPN's current recognition as the most successful operation of its kind.

From 1977 to 1979, Simmons was president of NBC Sports, a network he had served as a major sports executive since 1964. During that period, his capacity for organizing new enterprises resulted in the network's strong coverage of baseball, basketball and many other sports, as well as professional football.

He was also a major contributor to the development of the successful Sports World show and was highly instrumental in securing the 1980 Summer Olympic Games for the network.

Simmons began his television career in 1957 when he joined Sports Programs, Inc., which soon developed into the ABC-TV unit responsible for that network's sports programming.

The USFL thus becomes the second professional football league with which Simmons has been directly involved. While with ABC-TV, he was deeply responsible for the development of the television package when the American Football League made its debut.

He continued to work with the AFL when he moved to NBC and that association is recognized as having been extremely important to the AFL's survival through its early years and into its eventual merger with the National Football League.

Simmons was born in New York City and raised both in Ossining, N.Y., and Pawtucket, R.I. An alumnus of the University of Alabama, he did his graduate work in radio and television at Boston University. He and his wife, Harriet, have four children and live in Cos Cob, Conn.

IMPORTANT DATES
Jan. 31 — Training camp opens in Phoeniz, Ariz.
Feb. 7 — Roster cutdown to 70 players.
Feb. 20 — Roster cutdown to 58 players.
Feb. 27 — Roster cutdown to 45 players.

After the rosters are reduced to 45 players, clubs are able to add five more players to their rosters.

Each club will have a 40-man active roster and a 10-man inactive roster. A club may activate or de-activate players with no limitations on the number of activations or de-activations. Each club has the option, up to one hour prior to kickoff, to activate up to three (3) players from the inactive roster to the active roster.

PLAYOFF INFORMATION

After the 18-game regular season, the three division champions automatically qualify for the USFL Playoffs. One wild card club (club with the best record, other than the division champions) also qualifies.

The division champion with the best won-lost-tied percentage will host the wild card club, while the division champion with the second-best won-lost-tied percentage will host the division champion with the third-best won-lost-tied percentage. However, if the wild card club is from the same division as the division champion with the best won-lost-tied percentage, the wild card club will play at the division champion with the second-best won-lost-tied percentage and the division champion with the third-best won-lost-tied percentage will play at the division champion with the best won-lost-tied percentage.

DIVISION TIES

If at the end of the season, two or more clubs in the same division finish with the best won-lost-tied percentage, the following steps will be taken until a champion is determined:

Two Clubs

1. Head-to-Head (best won-lost-tied percentage in games played between the clubs).
2. Best won-lost-tied percentage in games played within the division.
3. Best won-lost-tied percentage in common games.
4. Strength of Schedule (club that played stronger schedule has priority).
5. Best net points (points scored minus points allowed) in division games.
6. Best net points in all games.
7. Best net touchdowns in all games.
8. Coin toss.

Three or More Clubs

(Note: If two (2) clubs remain tied after a third (3) club is eliminated during any step, tiebreaker reverts to step one of two-club format.)

1. Head-to-Head (best won-lost-tied percentage in games among the clubs).
2. Best won-lost-tied percentage in games played within the division.
3. Best won-lost-tied percentage in common games.
4. Strength of Schedule.
5. Best net points in division games.
6. Best net points in all games.
7. Best net touchdowns in all games.
8. Coin toss.

Wild Card Ties

If tied clubs are from the same division, apply division tiebreaker. If the tied clubs are from different divisions, apply the following steps:

Two Clubs

1. Head-to-Head
2. Best won-lost-tied percentage in common games.
3. Strength of Schedule.
4. Best net points in all games.
5. Best net touchdowns in all games.
6. Coin toss.
